REMOVES BODIES FROM MACON

Rev. Robert Talbot Ships Sons' Remains to Kansas City. REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Macon, Mp., Nov. 28.—The Reverend Robert Taibot of Kansas City came to Macon, to-day to superintend the removal of the bedies of his two children from Oakwood Cemetery to Mount Washington, Kansas City. The first child interest here was Henry Glasses Taibot, who died March 12, 184, and was only 5 wars old. The other was a boy of 6. Robert Alnut Taibot, who died December 13, 186.

The first death occurred soon after Mr. Taibot went to Kansas City, and, not knowing whether their residence would be permanent, they had the child buried in their old home cemetery here.

Mr. Taibot did not look into either of the cankets. The remains were placed in one coffin, seeled, and forwarded to Kansas City. Mr. Taibot attended the old St. James Academy here, of which his brother, Bishop Ethelbert Taibot, was the president.

Committee Which Drafted Proviso in Bond Bill Is Ready to Support All Such Amendments by Votes.

"The Council committee which drafted the free-bridge provise in the so-called Wells bond bill, stands prepared to defend the amendments at any time," said Chairman Hitchcock yesterday.

The remark was occasioned by a report that the same coterie which had resolutions passed at the mass meeting last Saturday night condemning the Wells emended bill would submit their objections. Mesera Ziebeld, Barrett and Gerhart, representing the rival bond-issue bill now in the Ways and Means Committee of the House, were present. They failed to offer any objections to the Council. Mr.

he had received before the Council meeting, but would not explain what he meant.

As the members of the party were leaving the chamber, Chairman Hitchcook, who is much wrought up over the way the Ziebold bill advocates are resolving against the Wells bill, which the committee, comprising himself, H. N. Davis and William Moellman, had amended, said:

said:

"The bill stands on its merits, as amended. The committee consumed considerable time in affixing the free-bridge clause to the bill, and are prepared to defend their work. It strikes me that the proper place to present amendments and make exceptions to the measure is in the Council and to the members of that body who inserted the free-bridge clause, and not at public meetings.

meetings.

"We are ready at any time to listen to arguments, if there are any, against this measure. We have been absolutely sincere in this matter and expect fairness in return. It was no easy task to accomplish this work and a spirit of courtesy, if no other, should impel the bill's opponents to make their objections to the committee in the Council.

Mr. Ziebold said that the business associations which he represents take exceptions to the amendment as it is phrased at present. He would say nothing of the plans of the Ziebold bill advocates beyond the announcement that the Legislation Committee of the organization would take up the matter at once, submitting their objections to the Council.

Feel a Burning Sensation There?

Do your shoes hurt you across the ball of the foot?

Does the seam just below the instep pain you?

It has been the shoe manufacturer's fault.

Manufacturers have heretofore "overlapped" seven thicknesses of leather and lining on top of the foot at the seam below the insten.

They know better to-day. Instead of "overlapping," the new
